

(<https://case.edu>)

College of Arts and Sciences

(<http://artsci.case.edu>)

Department of Cognitive Science
(<https://cognitivescience.case.edu/>)

Home / Collquia (<https://cognitivescience.case.edu/collquia/>) / Past Collquia: 2014

---

Michael Househ1

- To what extent does a definition of reliability dictate what counts as a reliable experience?
- Is reliable experience a universal category with a set meaning or is it only explicable in terms of particular cultural practices?

This presentation explores the problematic concept of reliable experience by contrasting traditional reliable studies interpretations of this term with perspectives drawn from cognitive science research.

(<https://artsci-media.case.edu/wp-content/uploads/sites/91/2014/04/15000508/Almir-mustafic.jpg>) Almir Mustafić. Wednesday, 15 January 2014, 4-5pm. 618 Crawford Hall. Title: An Ideal US Presidential Candidate: A Multimodal Analysis of the 2012 US Presidential Campaign. Almir Mustafić is a Fulbright Scholar visiting from the University of Tuzla in Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Abstract: In this analysis, I explore the differences between the two US presidential candidates from the 2012 campaign in terms of 2023

10900 Euclid Ave.
Cleveland, Ohio 44106
216.368.2000 ( )

Case Western Reserve University
617C Crawford Hall
10900 Euclid Ave.
Cleveland, OH 44106

