

Chimeric Antigen Receptor Natural Kills Cells for Therapy of B Cell Malignancies

Reshmi Parameswaran, PhD, Paolo Caimi, MD

Department of Biomedical Engineering, Case Western Reserve University

Need

Leukemia is the second leading cause of death from cancer among children in the United States. Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (ALL) is the most common childhood cancer in the United States. About 20% of these children will develop resistance to the chemotherapy, and there is no standard treatment for these children. Drug resistance and

Results

Solution

Intellectual Property

