

Post-Master's Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP)

leadership roles on the front lines of practice, administration, teaching, health policy design and delivery.

Innovative Executive Format

FPB offers the post-master's DNP in an executive format, through in-person or campus during three sessions or offsite in partnership with local academic institutions. Additional courses are also available.

The DNP program at FPB was created in response to the desire to create a doctoral program that would allow for a return to school for nurses. Cohorts have been launched in partnership with several academic institutions in California, Arizona, Florida, New Jersey, and Virginia.

LEARN MORE:
nursing.case.edu/DNP

FRANCIS PAINE BOLTON
SCHOOL OF NURSING

CASE WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Doctor of Nursing Practice

Post-master's Curriculum Plan